

Computer Hygiene Specialists

There are 400 times more bacteria on your office workstation than on a toilet seat

How CLEAN are your workstations?

We all like to share things with our work mates...however, Ecoli, Staph and bacteria, shouldn't be shared!

The key areas for germs to gather in the work place are on pc's, telephones and printers. Given that 65% of office workers share office equipment it's not surprising how germs are easily spread. Giving way to staff sickness, resulting in absenteeism.

At IT Care we believe that a clean work station will help prevent all types of germs being passed on to your staff, creating a cleaner, healthier working environment. It takes just 10 minutes for us to assess your computer hygiene needs and to provide you with a FREE no obligation quotation. Too busy for an onsite visit? Let us do the work for you. Simply click here and complete the online assessment form. We will email your quotation direct to you.

Work stations can be cleaned during normal office working hours with no disruption to your staff. All of our hygiene products are kind to the environment and our staff are fully trained professional hygiene specialists.
